

Lunch and learn focuses on getting fathers involved

On Feb. 7 from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., Jeff Quinn from Duke's Center for Child and Family Policy will present an overview of the importance of father involvement in early development as well as suggestions on how fathers can get involved in their child's life.

A panel of ministers will share their suggestions of how congregations can help fathers get involved in their children's lives as well as their own personal experiences as fathers.

The session will be held at Covenant Presbyterian Church (2620 Weaver St.) in the fellowship hall.

Bring your lunch. Beverages provided. Registration is encouraged by contacting Winnie Morgan (winniewmorgan@juno.com or 919-732-1524), Early Childhood Faith Initiative Coordinator for Durham's Partnership for Children. This session is free, open to the public and sponsored by Durham's Partnership for Children and End Poverty Durham.
